Strange Issues-Circulation

In some cases, Prospector does not allow the end-user to pick which volume they want. It treats the different volumes like they are copies of the same thing. Why does this occur?

If there is enumeration in the volume portion of the item record, then a patron will be prompted for what volume they would like to request. Of course, this presumes proper cataloging, which may not have been done in all cases. To make an individual item requestable, add $v in each item record.
